

Career Opportunities

Nanolab Technologies Incorporated, a start-up technology service company located in Sunnyvale, California, is seeking bright, energetic, ambitious and flexible individuals who have the skills necessary to excel in an exciting High Tech Environment. Nanolab Technologies is Employee Owned and has adopted a “Merit Based” incentive plan that rewards individual contributions to Company Goals in customer satisfaction, fulfillment, productivity and technical excellence. Nanolab Technologies is acquiring state-of-the-art tools for Failure Analysis, Focused Ion Beam Circuit Edit, DualBeam (FIB/SEM), Scanning Electron Microscopy (SEM) and Transmission Electron Microscopy (TEM).

Office Manager Trainee

Computer Literacy is a must. The core skill required for this position is proficiency in Quick Books (Intuit Software). The company will provide training in HR, Customer Service (Microsoft CRM experience a plus) and administration.

Supervising Engineer-TEM Sample Prep

Proficient in all aspects of Mechanical TEM Sample Preparation. Strong Leadership Skills and Customer Communication Skills a must.

FA Engineer

Proficient in all aspects of FA including EMMI, CSAM, RTX, Decap, Deprocessing, Microscopy and Report Generation. Customer communications skills a must.

FIB Engineer-Flex Schedule

Proficient in Device Circuit Edit utilizing advanced FIB techniques and Camelot Navigation. Customer communications skills a must.

DualBeam Engineer-Flex Schedule

Proficient in Cross Section Analysis and TEM Sample Preparation utilizing Omniprobe. Customer Communication Skills a must.

Sales Engineer

Experienced in the FA and Microscopy Service Space. Motivated, driven and a technical back ground are essential requirements for this challenging position.